PROFONANPE'S CODE OF ETHICS

CHAPTER I

OBJECTIVE

Profonanpe's Code of Ethics aims to provide the general patterns of behavior for its employees and consultants / suppliers who are hired to provide professional, general or specific services; so that their actions adequate to the institutional values and ethical principles necessary to ensure transparency in internal relationships and in relations with persons and / or entities with whom Profonanpe has contact or has a contract-based or interagency working relationship; and to promote sustained healthy work relationships guided by the principles of morality, honesty and personal ethics.

The Code of Ethics also has as a purpose i) to establish the procedure to prevent aspects related to conflicts of interest, ii) to avoid situations that may cause this sort of conflicts, and; iii) in case they may be present, to know how to act properly.

This is also valid in case of signs or acts of corruption during expenses execution and hiring that Profonanpe may detect, or when receiving a report of alleged dishonest acts from its hired staff.

SCOPE

This code and the obligations that may derive from it, apply to all employees, consultants and generally to all persons and / or suppliers providing services in and for Profonanpe, whatever their working arrangements is, type of contract and / or funding source, and in the framework of their scheduled activities or tasks as appropriate.

All Profonanpe workers, consultants and suppliers mentioned in the previous paragraph, whatever the type of their contract, shall take cognizance of this Code of Ethics and a commit to abide by it.

In order to prevent possible conflict of interest cases, the workers, consultants / suppliers hired to lend professional services, in general, to Profonanpe, during its permanency and validity of their contractual relation, should observe the following:

- a.- They must protect their independence and avoid all possible conflict of interest, by rejecting presents or gratifications that may be interpreted as attempts to influence over the independency and integrity of the worker.
- b.- The must avoid relationships with people that could influence, compromise or threaten the worker's capacity to act with interdependence and portray the image of an independent performance.
- c.- They should not use their position for private purposes and must avoid relationships that imply a corruption risk or that may cause doubts about their objectivity and independence.
- d.- They should not use information received during the performance of their obligations, as a way to obtain personal benefits or favors from third parties. They may not disclose information that gives unfair or unjustified advantages to other people or organizations; neither should they use such information to damage third parties.

Profonanpe will not tolerate other kinds of behavior that may violate or threaten our Code of Ethics or other internal or external policies. We encourage the prompt internal notification of violations to this Code to your immediate superior boss.

Disciplinary measures will be taken against all violations to the Code and the obligations that may derive from it. The measures may go from a verbal warning to dismissal, according to the severity of the fault.

CHAPTER II

LEGAL GROUNDS

- 1.- Supreme Decree 003-97-TR, Single Conformed Text of Legislative Decree 728, Labor Productivity and Competitiveness Law.

CHAPTER IV

GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. Profonanpe is a private organization. This code is a self-regulation. It is not mandated by law.

2. This Code of Ethics seeks to provide an ordered set of rules to guide the ethical behavior of Profonanpe's employees in the exercise of their duties or positions, and of the people who provide a professional service or other services to the institution. It is an instrument of transcendent value because it sets out exemplary behavior patterns that contribute to fight corruption and to provide an efficient service to Profonanpe.

3. Profonanpe employees must be a model of exemplary behavior guided by the values of respect, integrity, efficiency, appropriateness, truth, obedience, justice, fairness and loyalty to the institution for which they work, all of which must be demonstrated and proved permanently through the transparent performance of their daily duties and chores.

Transparent practice of these values contributes to preserve and strengthen Profonanpe, which in turn will contribute to equity and justice in our society.

A similar behavior is expected from all consultants or others providing professional services or supplying goods, equipment, or others to Profonanpe.

4. Profonanpe employees must act with honesty, respecting individual rights so that they will be trusted both within the institution and by third parties.

5. Profonanpe workers must avoid improper behavior, and show integrity in all their actions. In social life, they should behave with dignity, restraint and sensitivity towards issues of general interest. In carrying out their duties, they must abide by the principles of neutrality, transparency, privacy and confidentiality in using the information or documentation received or obtained in doing their work or by reason of their position, and in using the assets belonging to the institution. They will likewise perform their functions or role with responsibility.

6. Upon learning this Code of Ethics, Profonanpe employees commit to its fulfillment.

7. The provisions of this Code are ethical in nature. As such, its norms and eventual corrective actions are independent of any disciplinary or legal sanction.

CHAPTER V

In this case, to do the corresponding report, the complainant must fill the report format available at Profonanpe's website, stating his or her name and address, so that he or she can be contacted to provide an answer to the report once the investigation is concluded.

6. Regarding the Procedures:

6.1. The Executive Director of Profonanpe, depending on the degree of wrongdoing or misconduct recorded, will refer the denunciation to the appropriate authorities (Department of Finance Administration, DAF and / or Department for Development and Supervision, DDS) within Profonanpe, so that they conduct the appropriate inquiries and investigations, and follow up the people involved in such acts potentially liable sanctioning.

6.2. Both departments, or each one separately where appropriate, should send a written report to the Executive Director of the institution reporting the results obtained pursuant to paragraph above, based on requests for reports sent to the people accused of wrongdoing or liable to sanctioning, evaluating the evidence presented and the disclaimer by the accused or involved parties.

6.3. DAF and DDS shall make appropriate recommendations, including the type of sanction to be applied in accordance with the seriousness of the act committed.

6.4. In case of minor offenses, DAF and the DDS shall proceed to sanction offenders according to the internal procedures established in the organization's Internal Work Manual (applicable to Profonanpe personnel) and its Manual of Operations, respectively.

6.5. In case of serious violations, the legal representative will file the appropriate complaints pursuant to law, before the appropriate authorities (Ministry of Labor, Police, Judiciary, etc.), and in case of criminal acts, and the provisions of Supreme Decree 003-97-TR and the Regulations thereunder shall apply to all personnel. All information concerning this administrative process will be maintained under strict reserve to protect its confidentiality.

6.6. DAF and / or DDS, jointly or separately, as appropriate, shall request to include in the above described administrative process, other workers or employees, when there is evidence of responsibility for the events under investigation, so that an Ad-Hoc Committee is set up, taking into consideration the hierarchy of the defendant at fault.

6.7. The Administration and Finances Director or the Executive Direction will inform the member of the Audit Committee, (in charge of receiving the reports or complaints) the investigation results, or by his or her requirement to keep him or her informed.

7. Whistleblower protection:

7.2. Any Profonanpe employee or worker who speaks out is protected against employer retaliation, especially sanctions, termination or dismissal, as well as acts that could be considered hostile.

7.3. Any official contravening the provisions of this Article shall be sanctioned pursuant to applicable labor provisions.

7.4. When filing a complaint with the Profonanpe's Executive Direction, the complainant may request that his or her identity not be disclosed until the end of the investigation and where appropriate, the relevant disciplinary procedure. This information is considered confidential and its disclosure is punishable under this Code of Ethics.

7.5. Whistleblower protection does not apply to:

- a) Personnel or disciplinary procedures or wrongdoing that occurred before the filing of the complaint.
- b) Complaints filed in bad faith or without evidence or proof of facts alleged.

7.6. Whistleblowers are not protected:

- a. When the inquiries and investigations involve the complainant in the events that caused the complaint.
- b. When evidence of commission of a crime or wrongdoing results in an administrative procedure, and authorities press charges against the whistleblower.
- c. When wrongdoing, fraud or crime deserving labor or criminal sanctions as applicable, is effectively demonstrated, pursuant to laws in force in Peru.

8. A Profonanpe employee accused of allegedly committing a misdemeanor or felony, must provide appropriate disclaimers and carry out the administrative and / or judicial measures needed to protect his / her honor and dignity of his / her position.

CHAPTER VIII

ENCOURAGEMENTS AND INCENTIVES

Profonanpe's Executive Direction through DAF and / or DDS is responsible for proposing for adoption, incentives and encouragement to employees and workers who excel in complying with this Code, such as memos or congratulatory letters (that will be included in the dossier of the worker), and others approved by the Executive Director as recommended by DAF and / or DDS.

Congratulations and awards will be taken into account for purposes of performance evaluations and training, in accordance with existing regulations and Profonanpe policies.

CHAPTER IX

FINAL PROVISIONS

FIRST.- Profonanpe's Executive Direction, through DAF and DDS, will encourage a culture of probity, transparency, justice and service integrity.

SECOND.- All Profonanpe employees and workers, whatever their private labor regime, will receive a copy of the Code of Ethics and they will sign a statement confirming having read these rules and accepting to abide by them. This rule also applies to new employees or workers.

THIRD.- The Code of Ethics will be published in Profonanpe's corporate server.
